Arthur Ellis, Canada's Most Famous Hangman, Dies Mysteriously

DEATH BECKONS EXECUTIONER OF MORE THAN 200

Brief Illness Snuffs Life Of Quiet and Efficient Officer

MONTREAL, July 22—Arthur Ellis, the methodical life executioner who served more than 200 men to the gallows, died in hospital last night after a brief illness of undetermined nature.

The shuffling little man of sixty-five, with a fair complexion and a fair for detailed ceremony when he stood at the gallows at daybreak, was 73 years old.

Death came more slowly to the quiet man than it did to the 200 persons he was estimated to have dropped from the gallows during the quarter-century he served as an official executioner for Canada. He was efficient in his small rented room a couple of days ago, but the news became known only yesterday when he was discovered in hospital.

Hangman Dies

Arthur Ellis, the methodical life executioner who served more than 200 men to the gallows, died in hospital last night after a brief illness of undetermined nature.

KEEP SILENT

Hospital authorities and attending doctors declined to discuss the illness of Ellis, who came to Canada from England about 25 years ago and became assistant to "Balfour," the man who previously was the country's unofficial executioner.

For years he lived his private life, a far transition from that of a public hangman who took pride in relating to newspaper reporters the details of his work. He had been in the profession for 25 years and had been assistant to "Balfour" for 15 years.

IN BIG DEMAND

Ellis, son of a former soldier and who was said to have served in India with the British forces, had actually been in the "official" hangman. The law provides that the local sheriff must have an execution but can hire someone to do the actual hanging. And as his reputation spread, Ellis was called to all sections of the country.

Available records indicate Ellis was the only executioner to have as many as four persons at one time. He was present in 1913 when he dropped four members of the notorious Frank gang from two scaffolds for the killing of a bank messenger in a holdup that killed two men.

Prior to that he had sent three to their deaths for the slaying and robbing of farmer Arntide Payette of St. Adolphe in the summer of 1917.

HEART SEIZURE FATAL TO HOWARD PRINTER LEADER

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 22—Charles P. Howard, president of the International Typographical Union, fell dead of a heart attack at his home last night.

Howard, who was secretary of the Committee for Industrial Organization, came to Colorado Springs last Sunday for a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Union Printer's.

Plans drafted for the home 12 years ago by Howard, when he became I. T. U. president, were under discussion.

Howard was defeated for the presidency of the I. T. U. by Claude S. Baker of San Francisco at a referendum completed May 5. Howard succeeded James L. Lynch of New York to the I. T. U. presidency in 1926.

Respect for Law and Orderly Processes of Government Is Impressive

Sweden Achieves Middle Way For Industrial Peace

Sweden has found comparative industrial peace through a long process of evolution rather than by striking upon some magic formula, Webb Miller, European manager of the United Press, writes in the first of a series of dispatches analyzing the relations between employer and employee in Sweden and Great Britain. The writer here has gathered his information on the scene in both countries.—EDITOR

By WEBB MILLER
British United Press—Special Cable to The Bulletin
STOCKHOLM, July 22—The secret of Sweden's famous "Middle Way" of solving labor disputes, a formula that is the envy of all industrial nations today, lies in a spirit of "give and take" that breathes life into the dead letter of the law.

The commission which President Roosevelt has appointed to study the Swedish system, which has won through law books for the answer to why this nation has so few labor disputes and virtually no violence. The answer is not written in law books, but in the minds and hearts of the Swedes, a patient, law-abiding people who will go to almost any end to keep the peace. That is why most students doubt that the Swedish system could be applied in other nations, including the United States, where the inhabitants lack the temper and outlook of the Swedes.

ONLY ORDINANCE
It was this respect for law and the orderly processes of government that struck me most forcibly when I came here to interview the country's leaders and find out first-hand the secret of the "middle way." For instance, there is an ordinance against the excessive closing of automatic shuttles. I have heard an automobile horn since I have been in Sweden. The attitude does not mean to explain the success of the Swedish system.

Here is a system which has been developing for two decades. Progress toward complete industrial peace has been rapid. In 1917 there were 261 disputes which reached the stage of strikes and lockouts. By 1936 the number had dropped to 60 and still is dropping.

SYSTEM FRAMEWORK
The framework on which Sweden has built its system is simple.

1—There is a statutory eight-hour day for industrial workers. 2—There are severe penalties scattered throughout Sweden's laws which duty it is to encourage conciliation and make their services available in all disputes. The companies have to pay to prevent strikes or lockouts. 3—A labor court, consisting of two representatives of the labor and three neutrals is appointed by the crown to enforce existing bargaining agreements. Once they have been made. The court can fine a union a member of an employer if it finds that an agreement has been violated. To that extent the law is bilateral. The court works with great speed, usually rendering a verdict in a few days.

EACH OTHER'S RIGHTS
But much more important than the "skeleton" of laws is the spirit between capital and labor. Broadly it is this. Capital recognizes the right of laborers to organize for the purpose of obtaining better working conditions and wages; labor, in turn, recognizes the right of capital to earn a fair profit. There is a minimum wage law in Sweden and wages in different industries vary widely. The general principle seems to be that an industrialist will pay as high wages as he can and still obtain a fair profit. Generally speaking, both sides stand ready at all times to negotiate on the issue of what is a fair wage and a fair profit.

But if it comes down to a fight between capital and labor—and it sometimes does—both sides are reasonable and well equipped. Labor in Sweden is a compact group, unweakened by such things as occurred in America when the C.I.O. and the A.F. of L. parted company. The Swedish Confederation of Trade Unions, made up of 42 federations, has a membership of 440,000. The total number of workers belonging to unions and the confederation is only 60,000.

FIGHTING FUND
The confederation has a reserve "fighting fund" of 12,000,000 kroner (about $3,000,000) to distribute to its members in event of a strike between 1936 and 1937 a confederation paid out $4,000,000 to carry on during strike and labor disputes.

But the employers are equally well organized. Five thousand of them have formed the Swedish Employers' Federation, a sort of union of capitalists. The employer is the lockout. Members pledge that they will join any lockout ordered by the Employer's Federation and that they will not enter into any collective agreements with workers unless the federation approves it. At present the federation has a "war chest" of about $6,000,000. Any employer who violates the rules of the federation can be fined a maximum of $50 for each day in his employ.

On the other hand, if he is ordered to join a lockout, he receives benefits from the federation—25 cents a day for each employee for the first month and 50 cents a day for each person in his employ for the second month. The confederation refuses to aid one of its members, however, unless it is convinced his position is reasonable. It also never to resort to lockouts unless there is sound economic justification for them.

Both labor and capital are fiercely jealous of their right to

Miss Toronto Comes From B. C.

Returning to her home town after an absence of 16 years, Diane Perkins, 20, of Vancouver, was unanimously chosen "Miss Toronto" for 1938 at the annual Toronto police games. Diane was taken to Vancouver as a leader of the "Miss Toronto" weeks ago, seeking a job as a model. Assistant Inspector of Detectives Moses Mulholland, president of the police, said the "Miss Toronto" was a beauty and a cheerleader. Diane won a cup, a trip to Atlantic City and a cheque of $500.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The inflated price of tinplate, kept at a high level despite recent reductions in the price of steel products, is due to excessive costs for the consumer on this continent, business leaders of the industry said today.

ILLNESS LIKELY TO CAUSE DUNNING AND ELLIOTT TO RETIRE
OTTAWA, July 22.—Illness of two cabinet ministers has revived rumors in Ottawa that Prime Minister Mackenzie King's cabinet may be due for a shake-up soon although there has been no official intimation that this would take place in the near future.

Mr. Charles A. Dunning, finance minister, stricken with a circulatory ailment just before parliament was prorogued, has been ordered to the seashore for a long rest and there is a possibility that when he has fully recovered he will be advised against returning to strenuous tasks as the treasury department presents.

Mr. J. C. Elliott, postmaster general, ill for months, has been making a slow recovery and his return to the post office is being considered in Ottawa circles as unlikely.

HEALTH LOSS CARD
Mr. Dunning's force card was reported to the extent to which he recovered his strength. Health loss is a robust and energetic man, just past his 50th birthday. It has been reported, however, that before his illness he had entertained thoughts of leaving the finance portfolio at the end of the present parliament.

Mr. Elliott has frequently been rumored to be slated for the post office where there are six vacancies. There are many who would be disappointed if he were to leave the finance portfolio for the post office, as he has been considered in Ottawa circles as unlikely.

AMERICANS VIEW JASPER PARK SIGHT
JASPER, July 22.—The "Know Mississippi Better Trip" spent six days in Jasper Park. The trip was packed every minute with sightseeing. A number of residents as well as tourists enjoyed the fine exhibition of products of the southern state. The party under the leadership of ex-Governor Murphy, took a trip to Mount Edith Cavell and found it just the place to spend a hot day. Mountain Motors, Limited, supplied the cars for the trip. Shortly after noon the special train sped westward to the coast and Alaska.

STRIKE AND CALL LOCKOUTS
The Swedish labor law prevents them from doing so. Nor is there any compulsion for the negotiable collective bargaining agreements. They do so because they know both sides will benefit from such agreements and because the Swedes are by nature an orderly people.

One other reason is sometimes advanced for the industrial peace in Sweden—that both capital and labor are so strongly organized that they hesitate to start a conflict with the other. It is another application of the principle of "balance of power," meaning that two coalitions of nations about equally matched in strength will be reluctant to start a war.

But most experts agree that it is the realization that there is a community of interest between a capitalist and a laborer that keeps the peace. A president of the Swedish Employers' Federation once said: "We are both sitting on the same limb and if either saws it off we will both fall."

Canada Must Give Work and Wages to Live, Manion Says

part in the new leader and plead for a united party.

Among them was Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Ontario premier and high commissioner in London, who jealously remarked the departure of the day made him want to go out and do things. Perhaps at the coming convention to select a new Ontario leader.

NO DEMOCRATIC COUNTRY
No democratic country had yet succeeded in solving the problem of distribution, the problem of getting the abundance of goods and services to the people, said Dr. Manion. If it were not solved in 50 years the present economic and political system might disappear. If it could not be solved civilization might not be worth preserving.

The Ottawa convention, he declared, had brought about the rejuvenation of the Conservative party. Its great achievement was in shaking off the shackles of tradition. It was the rank and file of the party who controlled the convention and they determined not to permit any man or any group to dominate the party's policy or select its leader.

WILL NAME ORGANIZER
Organization was at the first need if the party was to take advantage of the new spirit created at Ottawa, said Dr. Manion, as he announced he would name a full-time party organizer within the next 10 days.

A group of Dr. Manion's old comrades in arms, veterans of the 21st battalion with whom he served in France during the Great War formed a cheering section. They were men of letters, bearing the name of the battalion, and before the speeches started, they sang the old army song.

Referring to this group, Dr. Manion said he was delighted to meet again men who had fought with him for the defense of the British Empire which was now menaced again by the troubled condition of the world.

IF I DID NOT PROVE TOO SUCCESSFUL
As a leader, said Dr. Manion, I would have to be a man and women delegates in the convention who selected me, remembering that I did not ask for a man or woman to vote for me.

He admitted he had failings and feared he would make many mistakes. He hoped, however, that his party supporters would stand by him loyally even when they thought he might be wrong.

RESOLUTIONS CRITICIZED
The resolutions adopted at the convention had been criticized as too general, Dr. Manion said. He said he would not be a party platform, but he would be a general, Prime Minister Mackenzie King was to some extent.

HEALTH LOSS CARD
Mr. Dunning's force card was reported to the extent to which he recovered his strength. Health loss is a robust and energetic man, just past his 50th birthday. It has been reported, however, that before his illness he had entertained thoughts of leaving the finance portfolio at the end of the present parliament.

Mr. Elliott has frequently been rumored to be slated for the post office where there are six vacancies. There are many who would be disappointed if he were to leave the finance portfolio for the post office, as he has been considered in Ottawa circles as unlikely.

AMERICANS VIEW JASPER PARK SIGHT
JASPER, July 22.—The "Know Mississippi Better Trip" spent six days in Jasper Park. The trip was packed every minute with sightseeing. A number of residents as well as tourists enjoyed the fine exhibition of products of the southern state. The party under the leadership of ex-Governor Murphy, took a trip to Mount Edith Cavell and found it just the place to spend a hot day. Mountain Motors, Limited, supplied the cars for the trip. Shortly after noon the special train sped westward to the coast and Alaska.

STRIKE AND CALL LOCKOUTS
The Swedish labor law prevents them from doing so. Nor is there any compulsion for the negotiable collective bargaining agreements. They do so because they know both sides will benefit from such agreements and because the Swedes are by nature an orderly people.

One other reason is sometimes advanced for the industrial peace in Sweden—that both capital and labor are so strongly organized that they hesitate to start a conflict with the other. It is another application of the principle of "balance of power," meaning that two coalitions of nations about equally matched in strength will be reluctant to start a war.

But most experts agree that it is the realization that there is a community of interest between a capitalist and a laborer that keeps the peace. A president of the Swedish Employers' Federation once said: "We are both sitting on the same limb and if either saws it off we will both fall."

Outlines Policy BIG APPLE CROP IN B. C. DISTRICTS IS FORECAST

OTTAWA, July 22.—The Ontario and Kentucky areas in British Columbia estimate a production of 1,172,000 bushels of apples and 132,000 bushels of crab apples this year, the Dominion bureau of statistics report stated Thursday.

The report said the apple crop is developing favorably throughout British Columbia. Nova Scotia apple growers expect as good a crop this year as last, the report stated. New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island did not report on the expected crop. Quebec expects a somewhat smaller crop than last year, but the report said, while Ontario's crop will be nine per cent below last year's.

Married women of middle age, it has been estimated, have a better chance of a long life than either widows or spinners.

What Price Wheat?

While the probable world price and the financial results to the treasury cannot be overlooked, there is another factor which should be taken into consideration; which should in fact come before either of these when the outlook is for low prices in world markets.

The Background

Yet Palestine might be supposed to be the part of Asia Minor where tolerance would most easily come to prevail. That the mild methods of the British have not made it prevail there, throws light on the conditions with which the Turk had to deal in other parts of his Asian territory—and with which he dealt in typical Turkish fashion.

TRANSIENTS AT REGINA DUE TO BE INCREASED

Jobless Numbering 400 Are Said to be on Way From Calgary

REGINA, July 22.—City Commissioner R. J. Westgate called a meeting of the Regina city council last night he had learned 400 federal transients are on their way from Calgary to live in Regina, where similar classification is being made.

The city commissioner returned from a trip to the Alberta federal office Wednesday.

TRIED TO PLACE MEN
Deputy Mayor S. R. East informed the council that T. M. McIlroy, commissioner of labor for the province, was endeavoring to place the 172 men housed in the stadium in jobs through the medium of the employment office.

A special committee of council, consisting of Deputy Mayor East, Ald. T. G. McNeil, Ald. J. G. Giesse and Ald. V. Olson will seek other interview with the provincial cabinet to obtain the sending of a delegation to Ottawa, it was decided.

City council members expressed grave concern over the "temporary" police being followed by the transients with the transient situation in Regina and feared a crisis would develop if Calgary transients were permitted to reach the city.

COUNCIL FEEL IT
There was also the possibility that men would soon start coming to the prairies from Vancouver, as indicated in a letter from British Columbia transients a few days ago.

City council was determined that as far as new arrivals of transients were concerned, they would be given no consideration. They would not be permitted to enter the stadium, Deputy Mayor East said and there would be no meals for them as far as the city was concerned.

He predicted that the progress of the exhibition would be maintained in years to come.

Popular All-Occasion Jacket Dress
New It as a Having That Will Harvie You

By ALICIA HART
To the June graduate who is looking for her first job:
It is a great mistake to appear at the desk of some employer who will give you a job in his organization, in clothes that are too fancy or too casual. This excludes hats with fantastic trimming or flowing veils and all dresses except simple, neatly tailored ones, designed for the street and not for afternoon tea. It excludes also the sweaters and skirts and flat-headed sports shoes you loved to wear on the campus last year.
Make sure that you are not taken clean from head to foot. Many a girl has been turned away with a "we'll get in touch with you later" simply because her hair wasn't soft and shining clean or because her neck wasn't as white as her face.
White collars and cuffs and gloves, even to the trim white of course. Shoes should be freshly shined, stockings seams straight and pure fairly flat (at least not bulging). Whatever you do, don't wander in minus your girlish. This is a more important than you perhaps realize.
If you are dramatic effects in makeup. Unless your brows and lashes are absolutely correct, lip stick must be worn. Your eyes should have your powder and lipstick must be carefully applied. You have plenty of natural color in your cheeks, wear a bit of rouge. This is not time to make the most of the best. The best is likely to make the work look like a trial to new and at a saving in price that will startle you. The pattern may also be used for separate jackets and another dress with a high rounded neck. A simple instruction chart accompanies the pattern.
Style No. 2096 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26 and 28 inches bust. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for dress; and 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for bolero and ash.

Doll's Hat

New and smart and especially flattering with upturned collars are "doll's" hats that Paris and New York designers talk about these days. This little model, in black straw with a green feather, is held on by mere streams of lace at the back of the head.

THERE IS NO SUCH COUNTRY AS PERSIA

See that your hants are perfectly groomed. Don't wear your fingernails so long that they are positively claw-like. And don't wear a fairly subdued shade of nail polish. Although bright red requires have been widely popular, there still are plenty of executives who hate them.

Indians Make First Trip "Outside"

Three northern Canada Indians are in Edmonton this week, but one can hardly say they are here for the Diamond Jubilee celebration. They are patients in the Misericordia Hospital for several weeks, having arrived in Edmonton at the weekend, accompanied by Miss Jeanne Belcourt, nurse from the Fort Vermilion hospital.

Nevertheless the trip out, according to Miss Belcourt has been for the patients a great novel experience. Never outside before, the journey arrived in a sick bed has been full of wonders for the patients. Surprised that the proportions of the Misericordia hospital, the attention of Peter Beacham, 38, of Little Red River, knew no bounds when he first glimpsed Edmonton.

The other two patients, Johnny Anthony and Jeremy Dumais are also from Little Red River, and share Peter's wonder at the size and wonderful world into which they have been transplanted.

Miss Belcourt is a graduate of the Misericordia hospital, and arrived in the city in the nature of a return visit. Practically all her patients at Fort Vermilion are Indians, she says, and as patients with their own doctors. Naturally different about showing physical pain, they make easy diagnosis of an arthritic leg.

She will remain here with her patients for several weeks.

According To Culbertson

By ELY CULBERTSON
Yesterday I pointed out that the so-called rule of play "second hand" is fallacious, and cited one of many situations in which the proper play by second hand is to get up a high card. Today's hand illustrates an entirely different sort of reason for a "second hand" play. In this case deception is the motive, but the result is likely to be equally satisfactory.

It should be noted that South, although holding four and a half trumps, did not "jump" over his partner's one in "young" spades. South correctly reasoned that if North had to play to a more than two heart rebid there would be no reasonable assurance of a game in the combined hands. Over two hearts North was not quite strong enough to give a jump preference to three hearts, but when his partner, after a mere preference bid, made the bidding reach to three spades, North properly appraised

Score one more for the "second hand" school!

East, however, did not wait for the ace to fall. On declarer's play of the low spade from dummy East unhesitatingly played the king. Now, bearing in mind that declarer could not use the outstanding cards, consider his dilemma. As far as he could tell East's play of the king was absolutely harmless, i.e., it was a singleton. In that case West would have the ten and two small spades remaining. In that case a finesse in dummy's nine spot would pick up all the trumps without loss.
Declarer could not be criticized for "failing" East's deceptive play. Taking the king with the ace, he led a low spade and tried the nine spot finesse, winning it. East's king fell down with the blank ten. After

INTERNE TROUBLE

By ELLINORE COWAN STONE

KATHERINE Miller said tremulously—as if she were just a young romantic girl in love instead of the most efficient and hard-driving supervisor of nurses at Saint Vincent's. "What makes you say that? I mean that he—how do you know?"
"Oh, that said Tran brisibly. 'This one set of symptoms you don't have to be a registered nurse to recognize. You see in yourself if you weren't so scared of acting and feeling like a human being... Oh, do along before they have time to dry off. If you could only keep yourself quiet that way—you'd see to expect, all bright-eyed and giggly like that.'"
Without another word Miss Miller amazingly turned and went, almost running down the corridor.
Tran sat down stiffly on the edge of a chair.
If the worst happened—if Stephen Sargent were really never to operate again, then she had nothing left. For the first time she realized how inseparably her enthusiasm for her work had been bound up in the thought of working with him... For if her youthful visions of Tran were only 20 per cent true, it had a more personal significance, it had long ago been sublimated in the real.
Finally she got up heavily and wandered out into the corridor. She hardly knew how or why she made her way to the instrument room—except that, suddenly, she wanted words to cry, and its unfrequented sterility offered her a safe privacy for that purpose... Or perhaps it was the poignant memory of that other day when she had looked there, a mere child it seemed to Tran now, yearning over the shiny instruments in their glass cases.
Curled up in a limp little heap on a wide window ledge, she was going about the business which she had come in a thoroughly workmanlike manner when a light opened, and a man's voice said:
"Good Lord! Handel anyone warned you yet that floods don't do surgical instruments any good?"
Bob Bentley sauntered across the room and stood, leaning against the wall, his hands in his pockets, grinning down at her.
In her position of Miss Miller there was no glad to see him that she sobbed all the more loudly.
"I had an idea you'd be letting your hair down somewhere," he was on cheerfully. "You would pick a nice festive little room like this for it?"
"I just thought you might like to know," he was lighting a cigarette as he spoke, frowning down at her, carefully not looking at her— "that I'm not so bad as we thought at first—about Old Nurse. I mean the paralysis was mostly due to shock. The sedative and nerve-

Answer—For a summer wedding Claret Cup is just as smart as champagne. Claret Cup is made on a lemonade base with pineapple juice and orange juice give it a pleasing flavor. This punch looks great in a punch bowl when served in a large glass punch bowl with plenty of ice cubes, garnished with very thin slices of orange and segments of pineapple and brightened up with Maraschino cherries. At the last moment pour in as much California Claret as you can afford—and it is quite inexpensive, by the way. The invitations to the weddings are sent from two to three weeks before the wedding date, but wedding announcements are mailed after the ceremony on the day of the wedding.

Grasshopper Plague Hits Ontario

Millions of grasshoppers have laid waste more than 16 square miles of farmland surrounding Penetang, Ont., northwest of Ottawa. The damage done by the hoppers is estimated at $400,000, and more than a dozen farmers have been left without any harvest or pasture for their cattle and horses. Leslie

McAllister, one of the farmers hit by the grasshopper plague, is shown, top, exhibiting damage done to his oats. The foliage has been stripped from the stalks by the hoppers, who even attacked the heavy stalks. What was once a fine head of lettuce is shown, bottom, after the insects had completed their destructive work.

On Last Leg

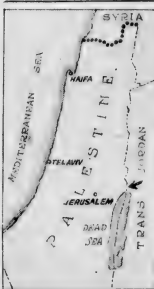

No speed records for round the world travel does this bearded adventurer seek, yet his circumnavigation of the globe is possibly just as hazardous as any other. He is George Battersby of the amateur crew of the barkentine Cap Pilar now docked at New York resting up for the last leg of a globe-trotting voyage which began in 1935. The trip climaxed as Capt. Adrian Seltmann's honeymoon; the little girl is the captain's daughter, Jessica. Twenty-four Englishmen make up the crew which has navigated the barkentine over more than 38,000 miles of ocean.

Gay Decorations Greet Majesties In Paris

The King and Queen were greeted by gayly decorated streets upon their arrival in Paris for the first state visit of a British monarch to France in 34 years. The entrance of this French department store, pictured, is typical of the decorations adopted by most of the Parisian shops.

Where Three-Cornered Civil War Threatens In Palestine

Danger spots in Palestine as a result of Jew-Arab rioting are shown in the map above. The dotted line along the Palestine-Syria border shows the location of Tiberias Wall, a 500,000 electrified fence designed to keep extremists out of the country. The area just north of the Dead Sea shows where 400 Arabs broke across the Trans Jordan border and clashed with British troops.

Charged with the duty of controlling angry Arabs and Jews, whose almost constant rioting has caused scores of deaths in Palestine, British soldiers are pictured above as they patrolled the streets of Tel Aviv on the Mediterranean coast. Other troops mounted machine guns in Jerusalem and Haifa and appeared in London for reinforcements. The British battle-cruiser Repulse was dispatched at full steam to join the cruiser Emerald at Haifa, where troops had thrown a "sanitary cordon" around the city to prevent clashes. The British government ordered its military commander in the Holy Land to send some of the fiercest sort to combat Jewish and Arab extremists who have conspired to bring it down.

Dance Turns to Bridal March

While port, pretty Pauline Simoes gave, in honeymooning on the Riviera, the Man Stern in her native New York is said to have had a romance with the same dame of Britain's wealthiest families. A former cigarette girl in a Gotham night club, as "Judy Duck" she became a dancer in a London floor show. Twenty-year-old Vivian (Kiki) Oakes saw her, and brought her at the stage door for 120 days. When she went to Paris to dance, she followed her, and today both are in New York.

Wins for Canada "I'll Drill Yeh Like a Sieve"

LIEUT. WM. EWING, JR. Montreal rifleman, scored Canada's first victory at Bales when he won the shoot-off in a four-way tie for first place in the Wimbledon match. Lieut. Ewing is an officer in the Victoria Rifles and is on his second visit to Bales.

You can't blame the horses for not looking excited. The savage encounter is a scene from a coming all-midwest western. Left to right, Little Billy, 3 feet 6 inches, and Billy Curtis, 3 feet 5.

Seeks Fees

Coincidentally with the appearance of a magazine article dealing with the insurance business of James Hovell, arguments were heard at Boston in the suit of Arthur D. Cronin, above, an insurance broker, against the National Shawmut Bank of Boston. Cronin seeks $50,000 in commissions, which he alleges, he lost when the bank switched an insurance proposal he submitted in 1924 to James Hovell's firm.

Heavy rains which threatened to reduce the wheat crop in Kansas have compensated by shooting the corn up to 10-foot heights in many parts of the state. Earl Addington is only 11, but still feels pretty tall corn for the end of June. His own father's farm near Wichita.

May Put Tigers In Sanctuaries

BOHART, Tasmania, July 22.—The Tasmanian, marquisal tiger—descendant from the world's first mammals and for this reason known to scientists as a "living fossil"—may not exist after all. It has been found again by the Animal and Birds Protection Board in Hobart, and apparently lives in densely timbered regions near the coast of this island state. Immediate steps will be taken to protect the animals in an effort to prevent the beasts from extinction.

Air Authorities Cancel Corrigan's License

The amazing flight of Douglas (non-stop) Corrigan from New York to Dublin, Eire, in his nine-year-old, 1900 Curtiss-Robin monoplane, top, can be compared only to the flight of Col. Charles Lindbergh in 1927, when he flew the Atlantic in his "Spirit of St. Louis." Bottom: Both used small, low-powered monoplanes and the crudest of navigation instruments. A great difference, however, is that Lindbergh's plane was built for the flight and exacting preparations were made before the take-off. Corrigan's plane merely had a special gas tank, installed by the flier himself, and an instrument board that was notable for the lack of instruments. Upon taking off from Ford Bennett airport, New York, Corrigan asked for weather conditions on the route in California and then soared over the Atlantic. His explanation that he had mistakenly flown in the wrong direction did not satisfy the U.S. Bureau of Air Commerce, which had cancelled his flying license and notified Irish officials that he was no longer to fly. Corrigan had applied for a permit to attempt the Trans-Atlantic hop and had been refused. When he took off from New York it was assumed he was flying home to California.

CHATHAM, Ont., July 22.—Dr. George M. Sistrup, Dominion anti-smuggler, said marijuana, a weed often smoked as a drug, is not grown in any part of Kent County. He explained the weed is grown in some parts of Lambton for hemp purposes.

WINNIPEG, Ont., July 22.—The working class must be aroused if danger is to be averted, David A. Croft, M.L.A., said in an address before the Windsor Veterans' Forum. He charged that a scheme to take over the Windsor transportation system over to private ownership.

Age No Barrier

That age is no barrier to love is demonstrated by Herbert D. Boush, 62-year-old retired machinist of Anish, Man., and his intended wife, 18-year-old Ann May, who are shown above in a blissful moment before their marriage. Boush said he feels 40 and expects to live many years. And Ann May says he is "young."

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly
Action Urgent
Tennis Spotlight
We're Stymied

REPORTS that doping and stimulating of horses on the western Canadian race circuit has started again calls for quick and effective action by the officials in charge. Racing has never been more popular in the west than it is today and the confidence of the public must be maintained if the sport is to continue enjoying this popularity. That may sound self-evident, but sometimes these self-evident facts are overlooked until it is too late.

If a gambling ring has been doping certain horses without the knowledge of the owners and trainers and if such a ring is clever enough to get away with it, then the circuit should quit fooling around and set up the special investigation department that is long overdue. City police or the Mounted have the knowledge or connections to make them effective for this type of work. Investigators should be full time detectives, who travel right with the races from city to city.

On the other hand, if the doping has been done by owners in such desperate financial straits that they simply must win a race, then they should be barred from organized racing for life—not for just the balance of the season. The penalty must be severe enough to completely stanch the practice.

There is some evidence to support the belief that abuses have crept in this season on the western circuit. For one thing, wire tips have been coming in against well-known horses being run. There have been amazingly accurate horse race tips, even better than those of a legitimate handicapper, working on past performance and breeding. This is a phenomenal record, but it seems a little too good to be true.

If racekenners are responsible for the alleged doping it should not be difficult to find the master of the racket. City police will probably co-operate with vacancy charges if the track and exhibition officials ask for them. It is simply amazing how many track followers there are who would be unable to prove that they won't accept anything if the police charged them with that offense.

After Budge Who Will Rule?

SINCE these United States of America are at present in possession of the Davis Cup, their big men in tennis have world-wide interest. Red-headed Donald Budge is presently expected to step into the arena after doing his stint in defense of the Davisman's trophy. Frankie Parker, who is in all probability the number two singles star for the U. S. Davis cup defense in consideration of the fine record he turned in last season, but there seems any grounds to believe that it will be the 20-year-old Bobby Riggs who will defend Budge's throne if the latter turns professional.

Riggs has not really hit his full stride yet. He lacks some of the experience and polish that an ace Davis cupper requires, although he is gaining these aspects quickly and will probably reach his full value this season.

Right now U. S. tennis fans view Jack Bromwich and Adrian Quill of Australia with genuine alarm. A number of the experts predict that possession of the Davis cup may depend on the result of the doubles between these two Australians and the U. S. team of Budge and Mike. The experts also are inclined to believe that the Aussies may win since Mike doesn't appear to have the calibre to keep up his end of the grilling battle that is promised. However Mike is the only player Budge will partner with and since the Aussie was the only player without Budge who will probably see Mike in the final for better or for worse.

Canadians Behind the Eight Ball

WHEN it comes to big time international tennis, Canada is definitely behind the eight ball—just as she is in golf. It would be nice to feel that Canada had a real chance in Davis cup competition, but it just isn't so.

Big time tennis and golf are two sports that require year-around playing by competitors. England and the United States have the climate to permit such constant playing, Canada hasn't. That is all there is to it. It is not that Canadians haven't the makings of champions in tennis. But rather that they never get the opportunity to develop to maximum power. There isn't a week in the year that Budge doesn't play some tennis. In fact, many of the best players in the world have been in Canada in the past few years. The Aussies may win since Mike doesn't appear to have the calibre to keep up his end of the grilling battle that is promised. However Mike is the only player Budge will partner with and since the Aussie was the only player without Budge who will probably see Mike in the final for better or for worse.

Capacity Crowd Certain As Cricket Elevens Hope To Break Draw Scores

LEEDS, England, July 22.—England and Australia will make another attempt today to break the deadlock in the 1938 cricket test series. After drawn contests at Nottingham and London, rain caused abandonment of the third test at Manchester without a ball being bowled.

At 10 a.m., Monday, August 1, the onset of Australia's first test match will be the first of the series. The match will be the first of the series. The match will be the first of the series.

Heading the entry list will be the name of George Christmas, classy rider for the Silver Hawks Club, who captured last year's factor. And alongside him will be that of Bob Allen, another Silver Hawks candidate, who finished last in last year's Christmas test.

One of the most promising candidates to knock off Christmas crown is the side rider of the Olympic club, George Yeatman. And the Silver Hawks have a formidable opponent in Billy Christmas and Allen Allen, who finished last in last year's Christmas test.

Wally Hammond and Don Bradman captured the title and will select their teams until about a week from now. In the meantime, there is speculation over the choice of a first-class partner for Wally Hammond. It is said that he will be joined by some players in the "England" team.

Don Goddard, Gloucestershire and Gloucester, and Wally Hammond, England, are the two players who will be joined by some players in the "England" team.

Seven Junior Golfers After Dominion Crown

TORONTO, July 22.—Seven teenage golfers, each a champion in his own right, will assemble for Canada's first national junior title and the newly donated Buchanan cup.

Over the London Hunt club course next Monday the seven youngsters will carry on their warfare at the same time the seven four-man provincial teams are settling the 1938 argument for the Winnipeg crown.

As in the team competition, the junior championship will be 36 holes of medal play. The Royal Canadian Golf association has declared each junior eligible for his provincial team if a provincial association finds it needs him, and his medal play will count in both competitions.

From entries received at R. C. G. A. headquarters, it appeared Thursday that all seven youngsters will compete only in the junior championship. They may enter the Canadian amateur tournament beginning the following day if they wish.

Provincial competitions decided by the representatives from the various provinces and each player will have 36 holes of medal play in his province. Those competing in the national junior event must not have reached their 21st birthday on the day of competition.

The oldest entrants are Jim Hogan, of Jasper, and Hugh Morrison from British Columbia. The youngest is Howard Bennett, 16, Manitoba. Mickey Pyle, 16, Saskatchewan; Jim Hogan, 16, Alberta; Hugh Morrison, 16, British Columbia.

The entrants, with their ages and the provinces they represent, are: Jim Hogan, 16, New Brunswick; Prince Edward Island, Gustin Oickle, 16, Quebec; Ray Grieve, 17, Ontario; Howard Bennett, 16, Manitoba; Mickey Pyle, 16, Saskatchewan; Jim Hogan, 16, Alberta; Hugh Morrison, 16, British Columbia.

Calgary Stars Continue Sweep Western Tennis

CALGARY, July 22.—Mrs. J. Johnson and Mrs. M. Blaine, both of Calgary, will play at the Glencoe Club on Saturday afternoon to decide the ladies' singles championship of the Western Canada hard court tennis tournament.

The two Calgary stars qualified for the final match Thursday. Mrs. Johnson by eliminating the last out-of-town threat, Miss C. E. Egan, 14, 6-4, 6-3. Mrs. Blaine by defeating another Calgary star, Miss D. Roberts, 6-1, 6-3.

Begins career's final berth when Mrs. Egan teamed up with Mrs. W. D. MacKay, 14, 6-3, and G. H. Hart and Miss M. O'Brien of Calgary, 6-1, 6-2 in the only other ladies' open event of the day.

In men's doubles, a pair of apologetic battlers saw Bill Uren and Bob Portland go into the final at the expense of B. Brucher and Ernie Anderson, 14, 6-3, 6-3, and J. Johnson and H. King advanced at the expense of Bill Clark and Bob West, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

Mixed doubles, semi-finals, and the junior ladies singles final, between Mrs. A. Leamy of Carbon and Mrs. D. Smith of Calgary, will also be featured today.

Marvel Wins
TORONTO, July 22.—The Marvel defeated Dan O'Mahoney, Montreal, in a wrestling match last night. The Marvel won the first fall in 25 minutes and O'Mahoney took the second fall in 15 minutes. The third fall to the Marvel in six minutes.

Featured Fifth Won By Glass Eyes

RECORDS were again smashed at Edmonton Exhibition race meet on Thursday when 23,476 passed through the turnstiles into the grounds and race enthusiasts among this number poured a total of $52,700 through the pari-mutuel wickets on the eight races. This is a new record for Thursday betting here. Last year the "handle" for this day was $32,280.

But if Thursday produced new records, it also produced an oddity or two that rarely happen in racing. Favorites won the first, third, sixth and seventh races, and the horse with number one post position won the second, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh. In only two races did the favorite finish out of the money.

Miss Glaxton, the long shot, whom won by a photo finish in the second race, paid the best price of the day—$13.40 straight, $2.50 place and $2.00 to show. Blauvelt, a fairly long shot in the sixth, managed to make third place and pay show holder holders $12.50.

WON FEATURE
Glass Eyes, owned by Mrs. W. Stewart of Winnipeg, captured the feature race of the day, the W. R. West Memorial Handicap. The six-year-old gelding, a fair furion in 1:31.25 seconds to beat old River and the favored Keweenaw who finished second, third respectively.

Thousands of fans are still wondering why the photo of the finish in the second race did not go up on the board as is customary and not a few cockeyed rumors mushroomed immediately. There is a bit of drama behind the fact that these photos were not posted.

Up in the tiny cubicle over the press box, cameraman Don Walker worked over his film machine in the tiny darkness as Miss Glaxton and Moore's Gift came into the stretch to the wire nose to nose in the second race. Right behind them, running nose to nose, came Dixie Lad and Peach Bloom.

CUT FINGER
Walker released the trigger. There was a whirr and 180 pictures of the last few yards of the race were taken. Working in the speed in the darkness, Don ripped the exposed film from the camera and whirled to plunge it into the tank of developer. He also ripped his finger badly on a piece of metal, but there was no time to be wasted on that. With the public waiting his picture, he rushed ahead. He didn't notice it, but blood from his finger matted into his chemicals. When the final enlargement was rushed down to the judges, Walker's blood had made it so dark that it was only with magnifying glasses that the officials were able to see that Miss Glaxton had won by a scant nose length.

I thought just about everything that possibly could have happened to me in this business," Walker mused as he hurriedly prepared new chemicals after first aid had stopped the flow of blood from his finger. "But that's a new one for the book. Someday I should write me a book on the things that have happened to me in this business—I would make that Bible story about Job look trivial."

There were some 380 very disappointed people at the track yesterday. They all held tickets on the daily double against Nora Lee, both top favorites in their races. As Jockey Budge blew in under the wire on Nora Lee in the third race, extra wild bursts of cheering broke from scattered spots in the large crowd. But the cheering broke off rather suddenly as the daily double ticket was taken. Some of the winners were very pleased, however, and whirled to plunge it into the tank of developer.
